

We're proud to have helped shape the history of this beautiful and compelling place in Northern California. Throughout our history we've been a family-owned and locally operated company that actively contributes to responsible growth and development in the North Bay Area.

A brief history of Frank Howard Allen Realtors.

- 1910 The Company is founded and its early years center on development.
- 1949 Frank names his son Charles Howard "Howdy" Allen as a partner, and the firm becomes known as Frank Howard Allen & Son. After anticipating the tremendous benefits it could provide clients, Howdy plays a key role in creating the Multiple Listing Service at the Marin County Board of Realtors.
- 1952 With the passing of Frank Howard Allen, Howdy becomes the head of the company.
- 1960s After expanding the company to four offices and a sales staff of approximately forty, Howdy meets Jeffory Morshead, a young Realtor® in the area. In what has since become a company legend, Jeffory purchases Frank Howard Allen & Co. from Howdy Allen with a handshake and a promise.
- 1989 Frank Howard Allen & Co. is sold to Jeffory's cousin, Larry Brackett and his wife, Brennie. To this day, Larry is Chairman and CEO.
- Today Since the Bracketts assumed ownership, Frank Howard Allen has grown to become the dominant real estate company in the North Bay. In a time when local organizations are being merged into nationwide firms, Frank Howard Allen remains independent and unique. Like the Allens and Morsheads before them, Larry and Brennie Brackett are multi-generation Californians, committed not just to business, but to our communities as well.
