Novato, CA, May 15, 2008 – Frank Howard Allen is pleased to announce the selection of Ronna Somers as General Sales Manager and Fred Angeli as Director of Risk Management. Both positions will become effective in August.

“After interviewing many wonderful candidates, from inside the Company and out, we have made the decision to restructure the job of General Manager. This has allowed us to promote two stellar candidates from within our great pool of talent, something we prefer to do whenever possible,” said Noreen Smith, President/CFO of Frank Howard Allen.

“We have grown over the years to encompass over 600 of the best agents in the business and we are so fortunate to have the kind of talent and leadership in our company that allows us to move our own into key positions,” adds current General Manager, Becky Gould.

A 30-year real estate veteran, Somers has been with Frank Howard Allen since 1984 working first as a sales associate and then as Assistant Manager of the San Rafael office; in 1998 Somers was promoted to Manager of the Novato Office and in 2007 she took the helm of the Business Development department. As General Sales Manager, Somers will continue to work on recruiting, retention, and training, and will also concentrate on the area of productivity.

Angeli, Manager of the San Rafael Office for 20 years, will be responsible for risk management as well as forms and other related areas in his new position of Director of Risk Management. Angeli has been part of Frank Howard Allen for more than 20 years and has 30+ years of real estate experience.

Effective May 1, the new Manager of the San Rafael Office is Rocky Vannucci; Matt MacPhee is Assistant Manager. Vannucci joined Frank Howard Allen in 1984 and in June of 2006 he was appointed Assistant Manager of the San Rafael Office. MacPhee has over 20 years of real estate experience.
